...are affected by prostate cancer.
It is most common in African American men over age 50 and men with a family history. It causes 29,480 deaths a year.

The American Cancer Society's estimates for prostate cancer in the United States for 2014 are:

- About 233,000 new cases of prostate cancer
- Prostate cancer is the most common type of cancer found in American men, other than skin cancer. Prostate cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death in men, behind only lung cancer. One man in 36 will die of this disease.
- Prostate cancer can be a serious disease, but most men found to have prostate cancer do not die from it. In fact, more than 2.5 million men in the United States who have had prostate cancer at some point are still alive today.
